To the Class of 2002,

As our final days at Littleton High School quickly approached, we were all flooded with the memories of the years we spent together. From early childhood, we shared the knowledge and experiences that now define us, both individually and as a group. Our class is characterized by its leadership and ambition, and it is through this that we have made an impression upon our school.

Our school experience has been a tangle of firsts and lasts. The Class of 2002 was the first to attend Nature's Classroom in sixth grade and the first to use the seventh grade wing. It was the last class to spend a full six years at the Junior Senior High School and the first to graduate from the new high school.

Throughout our years in high school, the members of our class grew closer as we shared experiences. Sophomore year was highlighted when the Class of 2002 emerged victorious in the school-wide Spirit Week competition. We had our own Prom, Moonlit Magic, when we were juniors. But it was when we were seniors that we really Left Our Mark on the school. We're sure that nobody in the Class of 2002 will forget that chilly October night when the senior girls organized a night of toilet-papering the senior boys' cars – a monumental and well-executed task. But the year was not all fun and games. In the wake of the tragedy on September 11, 2001, our class showed courage, leadership, and respect as we helped ourselves and our classmates cope with the emotions and shock of having our country attacked. Our class set an example for the entire school when we showed our support for each other in coping with this terrifying and serious event.

Diverse talents define our class. Despite our differences, or because of them, we came together; as a result of the senior class of 2002, Littleton High School was infused with the positive attitude, sense of adventure, and feeling of unity that we were able to achieve.

Our example has left the school with a legacy of healthy competition and comradery. When we left Littleton, we took with us all of the memories that we made together. We started our adult lives with the knowledge that there never has been and never will be another class like ours. We have truly Left Our Mark.

Our best wishes to all of you,

Pat Trahman helps Sarah Deveau with an injury. As the schools nurse, Mrs. Trahman deals with many sick or injured students each day. This lady always has a smile on her face to cheer up her sick patients.

Dr. Paul Livingston now serves as the Superintendent of Littleton School System. With the retirement of former Superintendent Franco, Dr. Livingston assumed his duties in August. We look forward to many years of service from this man.

Mr. Buckey, the new assistant principal, is busy, as usual, at his desk. Mr. Buckey has been a welcomed addition to our staff, not only bringing new ideas and his work ethic, but also his ability to relate to the students.

Mr. Desaulniers, the principal of the high school, works on some paper work. Serving as principal for a second year, Mr. D remained anxious, like the rest of the staff, to move to the new school, and he kept students informed about this process.

Andrew Kinniburgh and Ms. Lordan smile for the camera in geometry class. In geometry, students learn logical reasoning in the form of proofs, angles, ratios, and proportions.

Freshmen Jenna Cantino and Jen Morse take a break from studying to laugh with their friends. In this geometry course, they will learn about two and three dimensional geometry.

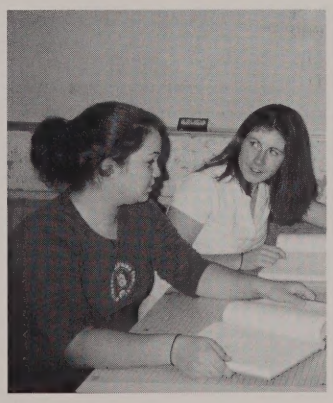
In this AP calculus class, directed by Mr. Turner, John Tuttle, Ian Belanger, and Nick Koptiew solve problems as examples for their class. Calculus students need a strong mathematical background, like these hard working students have!

Miss Lordan and Stacie Kanniard work on a challenging algebra problem. Algebra students are usually required to learn or review linear equations, ration expressions, and functions.

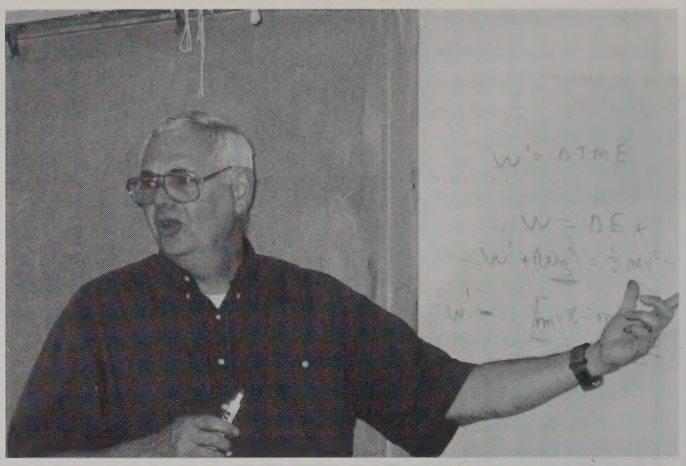


Emily Hronik visits her favorite math teacher, Mr. Turner. Mr. Turner teaches sophomore geometry, junior pre-calculus, and senior AP calculus.

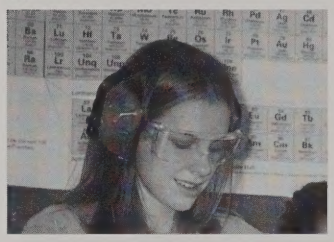
Mr. Marr, one of our many dedicated math teachers, teaches Algebra II to the sophomores and in this class, Algebra I concepts will be reviewed and solidified.

Freshmen Rachel Kingsley and Kristen Rooney work together through a difficult geometry problem. Through much reviewing and solving, they finally figured it out.

Mr. Leger gives a lecture to his physics class. In Physics I students learn about sound, light, and energy along with many other topics. Physics I gives students the knowledge they need in order to succeed in Physics II or AP Physics.



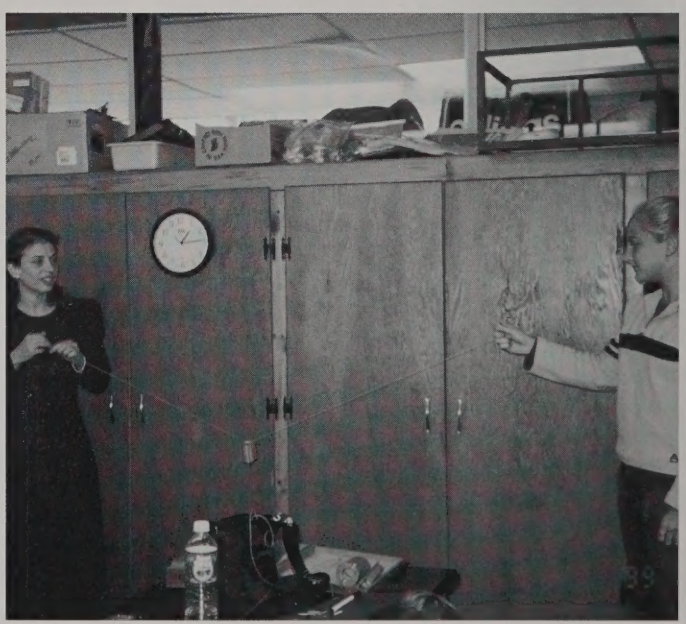
Kylie Magee dons her safety equipment while working on a chemistry experiment in Chemistry II. In this class, students learn about electric, nuclear, and organic chemistry. This course prepares students for careers in science and engineering.



Mr. Fitzpatrick helps Krystle Heighes with some work. Using what they learned about chemicals in Chemistry I, students in Chemistry II enhance their knowledge.

Wow, doesn't that class look nerve-racking! Taylor Wheaton 'smiles' for the camera while in chemistry. Luckily, not all days are as strenuous on Taylor and other students as this one was.

Mrs. Haupt works with Elisha Adey on a scientific exercise. Students in earth science study many topics: volcanoes, stars, rocks, minerals, and glaciers. Students should take this class if they plan to start careers in geology and other related sciences.



In Academic Physics, Nicole LaVigne helps Mrs. Haupt prove that "force is a vector quantity." In this course, students learn using investigation, modeling, and computer technology. Since geometry and algebra are frequently used in this class, good math skills are an asset to students.

In Mrs. Leonard's biology class, Tina Chen and Rob Crory speak to the class about biomes. Other topics that these freshmen study include genetics, evolution, the processes of science, and much more.

Nick Kiernan combines earth science and physics by testing the effects of gravity on rocks. Through fun activities like this one, students learn without even knowing it. This hands-on approach is just one of three methods of learning: seeing, hearing, and doing.

Mr. Leger demonstrates to his AP Physics class the concept of angle momentum. Students in this class review what they learned in Physics I and add to their knowledge. Like chemistry, this class helps students interested in careers involving science and engineering.

Frank Tringale, Alex Ogle, Jeff Townley, Andrea Sarvela, and Jen Nader pose for a picture in their Modern European history class, which is also called Humanities. There, students learn about the literature, art, and music of historical periods.

Junior Emily Estep concentrates during her AP History class. With her fellow students, Emily will acquire solid reading and writing skills and will devote much time to homework and studing in this exciting course.

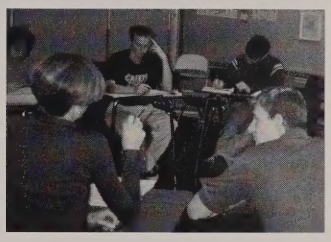
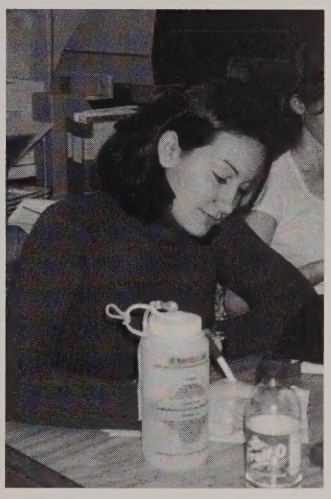
Melissa Whalen and Danielle VanMolle take notes in their humanities class. Students in this class learn about the social, political, and economical history of the world. This course covers the late medieval period up until the 20th century.

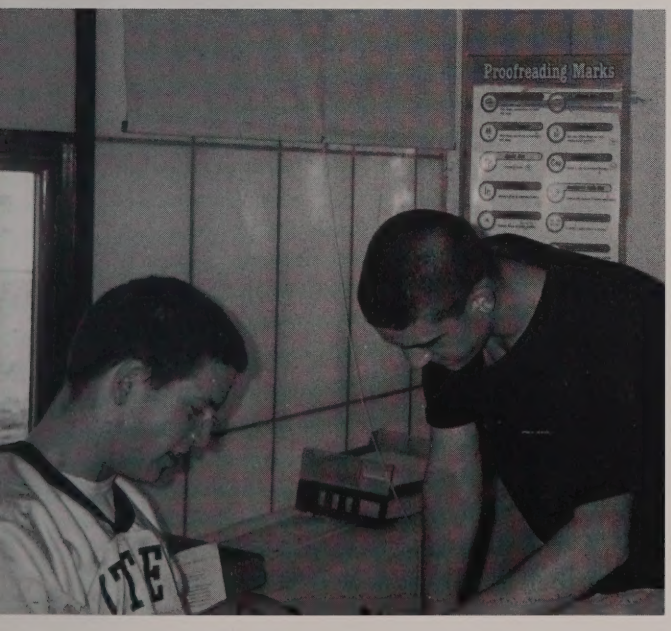
Mrs. Lynch, Michael Rooney, Ivan Kirillov, Jeff Columbo, and Sarah Lyon take part in a class discussion in their AP US History Class. Students taking this course must have knowledge about modern European history.





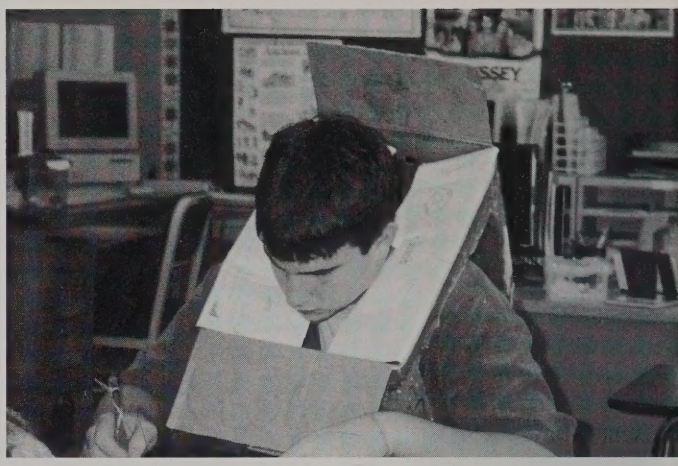
Junior Liz Serio works diligently on her social studies work in the library. Students often spend time in the library to find information for their various history projects.

Mr. Harhen sits by the window while teaching his You and the Law class. Over a one semester period, students in this class learn about criminal, consumer, family and housing laws. Activities for this class include mock trials and role playing.



Ben Pierce and Ryan Gilbert work on an in-class activity while in United States history. This course focuses on the social, economical, and political development of our country. To expand their knowledge on US history, students can also take another one-semester class on this topic.

Thinking outside the box? Freshman Pat Lento uses his "Thinking Box" to do well on his test in Mrs. Chaple's English class. Freshmen develop their vocabulary, writing, and public speaking skills in English.



Sophomore Kate Axtman listens during one of the many in depth discussions in her English class. This course guides students through historic, cultural, and literary influences and selected literary pieces.

Senior Shannon McCarthy presents her project to Mr. Spaulding's English class. In this class, students study English literature and critical thinking and writing.

Senior Christine Carter listens to one of her classmates speak on the book, A Separate Peace. As projects, some students made models of trees to symbolize a scene out of the interesting novel.

A smiling Lamont McGhee is assisted by his English teacher, Mrs. Holt. Teachers often review the class notes to help students prepare for tests and quizzes.

Junior Debra Budra is assisted in correcting a paper in her writing class. In this course, students write poetry, narritives, personal reflections, editorials, essays, and dialogues.

Senior Steve O'Clair uses his calculator in English class. Have they switched the subjects without telling us? It's hard to tell. Okay, Steve.

Mrs. Moran struggles to remove her reindeer from the water bottle that Phil Haines and Pat Malone packed inside. To make her classes interesting, she always has stuffed animals or songs for demonstration.

Esther Kim laughs with her fellow foreign language speaking friends while taking a very small break from concentrating hard as always on her work.

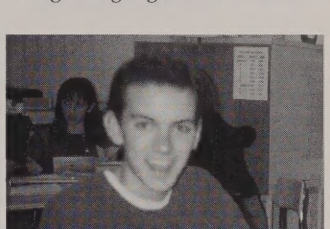
Foreign language teacher, Ms. Watson, and freshman Josh Leger discuss an answer to a question in the only language the students in this class are allowed to speak French.

Mike Pelland takes a quick break from studying during a group activity in his 'muy interesante' foreign language class.

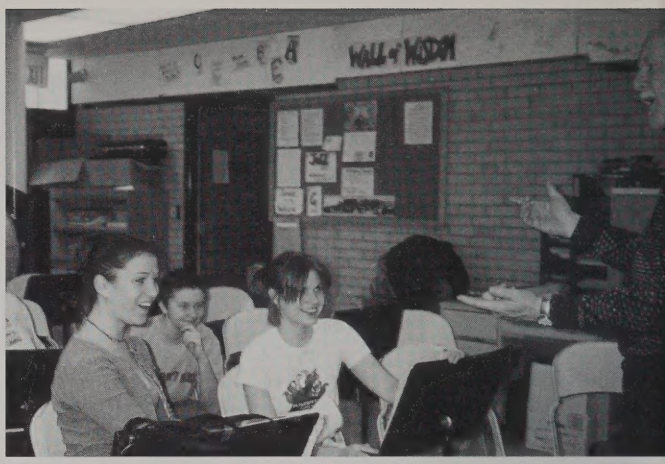


Jill Cantillon, Krista Nichols, Sarah O'Donnell, and Mike Azzolino take a break from their rigorous Spanish 2 course. The seniors girls and this freshman boy share skills in speaking this integrated language.

Melissa Whalen and Danielle VanMolle get a bit of an informal introduction to their French class. Along with their fellow classmates, the girls bounced a beach ball around the room to learn each others names.

Freshman Sandra Sheridan smiles at one of her French-speaking friend's accent. Sandra is among the students who has continued her learning of this interesting language.

Emma Bruns, Rob Crory, and Nancy Brule listen to Mr. Foley during Music Theory II. Students in this class learn about dictation, chords, and moods. Other music courses include Jazz Improvisation and the History of Jazz.

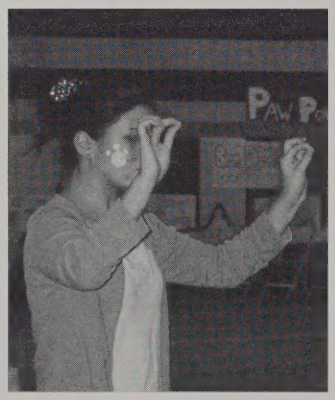


Julie Rodgers sits in the Tech Lab. In the area of business technology, students can learn many things about computers in classes such as Computer Skills and Applications, Integrated Tech, and Desktop Publishing.

The high school band plays at the Homecoming pep-rally. Besides pep-rallies, the band plays at parades, football games, and concerts.

KirstenCox takes part in her art class. In art, students can take classes such as Basic Art I, Intermediate Art I, and Art Major, all of which will teach students many skills: painting, drawing, and sculpting to name a few.

Senior Emma Bruns conducts the High School Pep Band as they play at the Homecoming pep-rally. Emma also conducted the band at the football games. This was not an actual course that Emma took, but she definitely had fun.



Kelly Oslin works during her Computer Skills and Applications class. After this class students should be able to type properly and produce documents such as reports, letters, and memos.

The High School Chorus sings at the winter concert, one of three times that they perform for an audience. The other two times are the spring concert and the Memorial Day parade. Song types range from classical music to 21st century music.

Ben Pierce avoids his accounting work by playing a game of solitaire. Students enrolled in Accounting I learn the basics of accounting that will be useful in certain careers.

Jen Anthony works on her human figurine in sculpture class. Originally called ceramics, this course focuses on building handmade sculptures, glazing techniques, and using a pottery wheel. However, the delay of moving into the new school has limited the projects the class can work on.

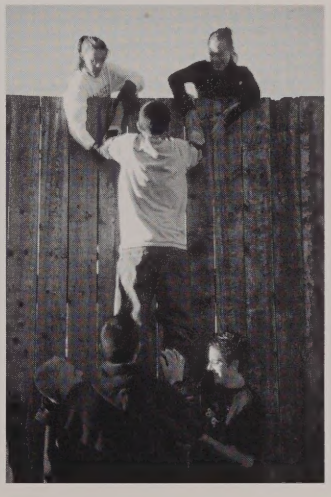
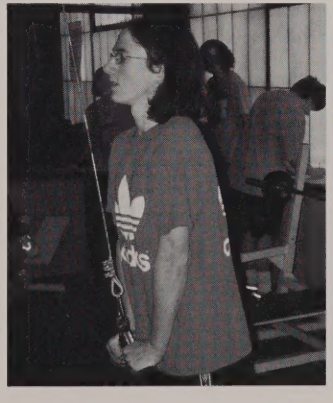
Junior Kristine Benere works on gathering information for her critical review in the library. Although many students dread writing this lengthy paper, it appears like she is enjoying herself!



Students in physical education help each other to scale "The Wall," which is part of the low ropes course. Other activities that students take part in include weight training, team sports, and health or wellness education.

Jim in gym. Try saying that a few times. Freshman Jim Columbo works tediously on improving his muscular strength. Students in this Physical Education class practice recreational activities, as well as weight training.



Frank Tringale and Joe Graham work studiously in the library. Students can use this library for research, reading, or just studying quietly. The largest handicap for the librarians this year was a lack of space, due to the sharing of the room with the Middle School.

Ms. Marsh explains some interesting math concepts on the chalkboard . As usual, she enjoys teaching math to all of her willing collection of students.

Sophomore Matt Saylor reads a novel and answers questions concerning its main ideas and themes for his challenging English class.

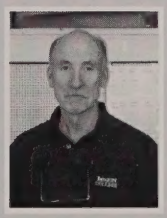
"We lost a few key players, but held our own against competitive teams."

—Matt Saylor



"Even though the golf team was young and relatively inexperienced, many matches were extremely close and the team earned the Mid-Wach League Division III Sportsmanship Award."

—Coach Webster

Girls Soccer
Fall 2001

The team goes for a pre-game jog across the field. Each game day, the girls participated in a variety of rituals to ensure success on the field. This year, they were league champs for the fourth year in a row.

Andrea Knowles makes another crucial save. This freshman first-year varsity player astonished everyone with an excellent season and much promise for years to come.

"The fourth year in a row as league champs!! Yeah, that's right, West Boylston!"
—Steph Cardoos

"If we find a butterfly, wear our Vickies, and have a horizontal huddle, we'll win our game."

Kylie Magee

Kylie,

How hard is it to escape from places? However carefully one goes, they hold you- you leave little bits of yourself fluttering on the fences, little rags and shreds of your very life. -K. Mansfield Walk into your journey with our love!

Dad, Mom, Gaelen, and Dorian

Congratulations on your graduation Ben! You are wonderful and we love you so much. Best wishes for great success in college and for a future filled with joy and contentment.

Love from us all,
Mom, Dad, Anna, Aunt Judy, Grandpa, Grandma, Marty, Aunt Dolores, Uncle Al, Raz, and Ellie

Stephanie Cardoos

Class Will

I, Amanda Allen, leave Mitch another 5 years, Meag some friends, Burger King, and a green light, Dan a punch in the face, and Sean, Todd, and Dan 1 more year. I, Karen Astolfi, leave Erin Lynch the "bunny," Cy Chan what's left of my sanity, Jessica Toole successful summer plans, and Nick L. and Dave three more years of insanity with all my love attached. I, Ian Belanger, leave a towering stack of illegible, poorly spelled, and badly punctuated papers containing the secrets of the universe to any brave enough to attempt to read them. I, Carolyn Bell, leave all the luck in the world to future stage hands, a couple Spanish projects to Mrs. Moran and the new school for everyone else to enjoy. I, Nicole Blackburn, leave Caitlyn Pizza Hut, Allyson two more years in Spanish, and all sophomores the love of the critical review. I, Victoria Brooks, leave knowing I never went to yearbook camp, and, to Andy Thibeault, only the memory of rides home in the probolone. I, Meredith Brown, leave Caitlyn half day traditions, Allison the use of the word Mitch, and Scott G, Sabrina S, and Matt H fun in science class. I, Jill Cantillon, leave Olive a belt and the hope of marrying Eddie, Sarah D. microwave popcorn, and Dickie my love and the best of luck in the next 4 years. I, Steph Cardoos, leave Jen Morse the legend of the light yellow pinny, Andrea Sarvela with chapped lips, and Amber 6 more years (hahaha). I, Kaitlyn Carroll, leave the girls varsity soccer team the best of luck and Cheryl Crory in search of a new mother. I, Christine Carter, leave CC and Sarvie the memory of victory laps, G-Dawg an empty basement to watch Undressed in, and I leave knowing that I found the best friend I will ever have. I, Emmalee Dawn DiTullio, leave my loving boyfriend one more year and Stevie many years to come. I, Lindsey Margaret DiTullio, leave my spirit and smiles to all of those who care about who they are and what they do. I, Krista Dolak, leave Tyler 5 more years and no ride, the Class of '03 one more year and lots of luck, and field hockey the luck to be league champs again. I, Kate Dumont, leave Alison Shimmel's jean outfit to whoever can wear it with pride and Meggie B the patience to make it through her last 2 years. I, Casey Fairweather, leave Sean many more fun nights and 1 more year and to my girlfriend, Vanessa, best of wishes. I, Jeff Fidler, leave hoping to once again see the two greatest rock bands in concert, Phish and Tool. I, Steve Gehly, leave my brother Jeff to whoever finds him first. Good Luck! I, Christine Giaquinto, leave Monet 1 more year and my brother, Jimmy, the best of luck and 6 more years. I, Clare Gill, leave T.J. 5 more years, the field hockey team the chance to win back our league title, and the Class of 2002 the best of luck in the years to come. I, Adrienne Haduch, leave Nate 2 more years and the "legacy of the magical kneecaps," some "Zowie" art projects for Ms. Glass, and good luck to anyone who wants it or needs it in the future. I, Philip Haines, leave Meredith my alarm clock, so she can get up in time to take the bus. I, Scott Haines, leave Meredith, my little sister, 1 mountain goat and two egretts. I, Paul Higgins, leave Lani, Maria, Deb memories of our hours and hours of Saturday school, my newly reformed brother "rip it," and Monet many years of success and fun. I, Emily Hronik, leave Nicole Austermann with many laughs in chorus, my #5 shirts in basketball and soccer, and Meg Benton Oak Hill. I, Ashley Johnston, leave Brett all my love, Meag fun nights driving around, and Sean, Todd, Brett and Meag the best of luck. I, Jessica Kalafatis, leave Jay lucky to be out of Littleton, Lissa alone, and Nicole and Bean one more year at Cataldo's. I, Stacie Kanniard, leave Mikey the best of luck in his last two years and to Sean fun and success in his senior year. I, Matthew Kinnunen, leave my two parking spaces vacant, my presence in the halls forever, and all the sophomores two more years at LHS. I, Amanda Krawiec, leave Gael three years without basketball bruises, Brittany Graham some field hockey stories, my brother one more year, and Meg Scully the smelly field hockey pads.

Class Will

I, Abby Legenza, leave Stephanie, Molly, Cheryl, and Robby a wish for them to make lasting memories throughout high school. I, Kylie Magee, leave Gael no one to wake up in the morning, no cars parked on the front lawn, and Jen Morse the lost ball in the woods. I, Patrick Malone, leave J-Lo, MC, GM, and the rest of the soccer team a league championship, AJ his house, and my sister 4 long years and no ride. I, Shannon McCarthy, leave the best of luck to the field hockey team and the future graduating class great times at the new high school. I, Kelly McGrath, leave Brian and Samantha our fights at the locker, Beth O'Clair a coffee coolatta with extra chunks, and Mr. Harhen enough insults to last a lifetime. I, Samantha McGuire, leave my stories to SM, AH, CG, KD, RP, and CB, and Kelly knowing that she's just jealous. I, Brian Mizzoni, leave Erin 2 more years without a ride, Mike all the screaming ladies, AJ my fishing pole, and all the teachers my smile and 3 more Mizzonis to come. I, Ericka Nelson, leave Tebo to keep the alliance alive and four glorious years for Evan. I, Krista Nichols, leave Jaime and Anna the best of luck and tons of love for the next few years. I, Steve O'Clair, leave the best of luck to Craig, Lynne, and Beth in their remaining school years and trying to find a way to school in the morning and Bethanie knowing I'll always be thinking of her. I, Sarah O'Donnell, leave Squiggles all of the luck with his love life, Mark a locker all of his own, and all the luck and fun to Jaime and Anna. I, Kim Patriquin, leave Stevens the hope of finding his true hair color, Caitlynn as the pastry chef of Kimball's, and Olive a lifetime of memories. I, Elizabeth Payeur, leave Tommy four more years of school, BJ as King of the Ghetto, Caitlyn fun filled nights with BM and SG, Steve the award for baggiest pants, and Jenna the shoe song. I, Emily Payeur, leave Tommy 4 more years of torture, Steven and Jenna and Tommy all the memories of the "Original Five." I, Ben Pierce, leave Matt Coole the 737 Bosstones shirt and J.J. Donnelly his own sock. I, Josh Poor, leave knowing that high school was a big party. I, Rachel Potter, leave the best of luck to everyone at the new school and Tim 4 more years. I, Shannon Scully, leave Meg the barneymobile and 495 at 7:20 A.M., Caitie all the clothes she steals from me anyways, and the school two more trouble-makers to come. I, Stephanie Sheridan, leave 5 more years for Timmy, 3 more years for Sandra, and Emily Zimmerman the best of luck next year with the ski team. I, Alison Shimmel, leave all of Kate Dumont's jean material to whoever can make an outfit with it, Andrea Sarvela a bottle of rainbow jimmies, ice coffee, and her ability to walk "on the runway," and Bethanie Taylor only 1 more year. I, Teresa Soracco, leave Cheryl Crory without a twin, Meg Benton Oak Hill and a pack of gum, and the best of luck to the soccer and basketball teams. I, Niki Rogers, leave Jamie and banana good luck with their guy issues, the cheerleaders luck and memories of H.G.A.C. I, Kerry VanMolle, leave my sisters, Danielle and Leah, the best of luck, Meg Benton a mini soccer ball, and Cheryl Crory a partner to run with. I, Kim VanMolle, leave my sisters, Danielle and Leah, the best of luck in their remaining years of school and Meg Benton Malibu. I, Jeff Venuti, leave Sophy, Lisa, and Jen 2 more years, Andy and Nate one more great year, and everyone else great experiences in your new school. I, Andrea Wallace, leave my sister Rachel the best of luck in the next 5 years, Meg some mayonnaise, and WH, ST, BW, TM, MM, and MB to carry on the good times. I, D.J. Warila, leave KW my love and respect, DW anything you want I love you, CB a Porsche 911, TW your $450, TW a mini halfpipe and 6 skateboards. I, Chris Wenz, leave Thibeault a jack-o-lantern, Ward a family reunion, Ali Theriault a tornado, and Erin Cook a horde of tacos. I, Jeff Whalen, leave Lissa 2 more years. I, Taylor Wheaton, leave Alex with the best of luck, AJ with a field hockey skirt, and Benere a squirrel. I, Alicia Vanegas, leave my little sister, Alexandra, one more year at this lovely place, Maryanne Cleary legacy of the ultimate cheerleader, and Meg Benton and Alex the best of luck always.

Adrienne Haduch and Shannon McCarthy are surrounded by evil as they pose for a picture. Witches, devils, and Spice Girls were the most popular costumes this year.

Abby Legenza comes back from the future and Kaitlyn Carroll and Teresa Soracco visit from past times. The three showed their spirit by dressing in complete costumes from head to toe.

Who would believe that Krista Dolak could be an evil witch? Krista completed her costume with a hilarious fluorescent green wig and black and green striped hat.

Smiles all around. This group of Senior girls spent hours preparing for the Costume Day festivities. Many students met early Thursday morning to add finishing touches to their ensembles.

Kerry VanMolle and Brian Mizzoni, dressed as Hera and Zeus, ROMED the halls of LHS. These beautiful costumes were handmade by Andrea Wallace's mom.

The Senior Class once again showed great school spirit on Senior Costume Day. Immediately after this picture was taken, many seniors rushed off to a lively breakfast at Bickford's... and Jim Clark got dressed.

Senior Costume Day

Is that a new student? No, it's Mr. Buckey dressed as a hippie. Mr. Buckey's costume was one of the most convincing this year.

Senior Fundraisers

We may not have any money, but we have fun trying to raise it.

A group of senior girls pose for a picture after working hard to decorate the cafeteria for the Cotillion. Not shown here, Lindsay DiTullio both planned and decorated for the dance.

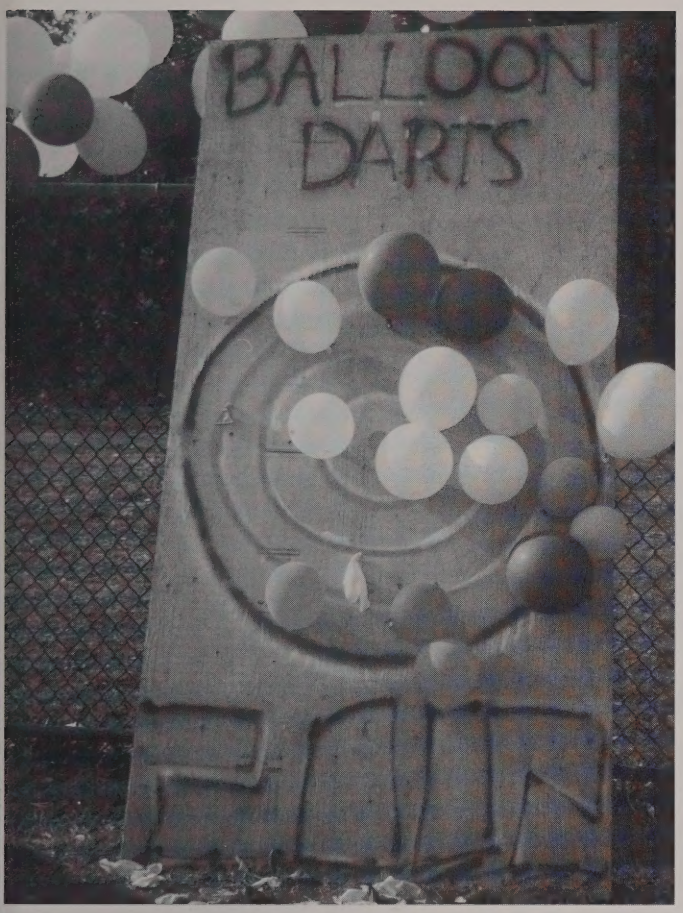
Kids work diligently on making puzzle picture frames. What a creative idea!

A hungry customer makes his own serving of giant Dunk-A-Roos. These cookies were a big hit at the Christmas Bazaar.



Check out that spray paint job! At the 2001 Homecoming Carnival, many children tested their aim at the senior balloon dart booth.

Abby Legenza and Kylie Magee take a break from carnival preparation to race down the hill. Senior girls always come up with creative ways to use extra materials.

Andrea Wallace and Brian Mizzoni pause to smile at the camera while selling baked goods during hall decorating night. Hungry decorators took advantage of the sweets and gave us their extra change.

Leaving Without a Lot of Money...

But with Memories that Last a Lifetime.

The Class of 2002 has worked hard throughout high school to try to earn money. Unfortunately, we have worked hard spending that money as well. We went all out with our class treasury to fund a magical junior prom in Natick and to try to create great memories of our final days at LHS. But many of the memories that we have didn't involve money at all. We didn't need money to begin the tradition of toilet papering the senior boys' cars on the night before Homecoming. We didn't need it to hang out at Bickford's on Halloween. And we didn't need it to make Christmas 2001 one of the most festive in LHS history. These are the memories that will leave a mark in our minds forever.

Memories That Belong Only To the Class of 2002

Do you remember…

- Finding out that instead of traveling to Camp Bournedale on the Cape for our sixth grade trip, we were going to Camp Grotonwood, 10 minutes down Route 119?
- Getting snowed out of a night at Camp Grotonwood and only staying for one night there?
- Our freshman year whale watch and all of the seasickness involved?
- Winning Spirit Week as the underdog sophomores?
- Getting rained out of our only Junior Year field trip to A Midsummer Night's Dream?
- Fighting for hours over the title of our Prom: Moonlit Magic or Moonlight Magic?
- Coming up with a creative alternative to Pumpkin Day (Bickford's and construction paper pumpkins)?
- Girls: Toilet papering the boys' cars in the middle of the night?
- Believing we'd be in the new school by Columbus Day?
- Thinking we'd be in the new school by Christmas?
- Hoping we'd be in the new school by February vacation?
- Accepting that we wouldn't be in the new school by April vacation?

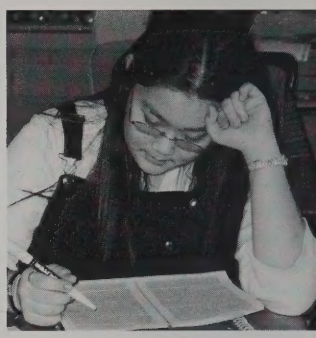
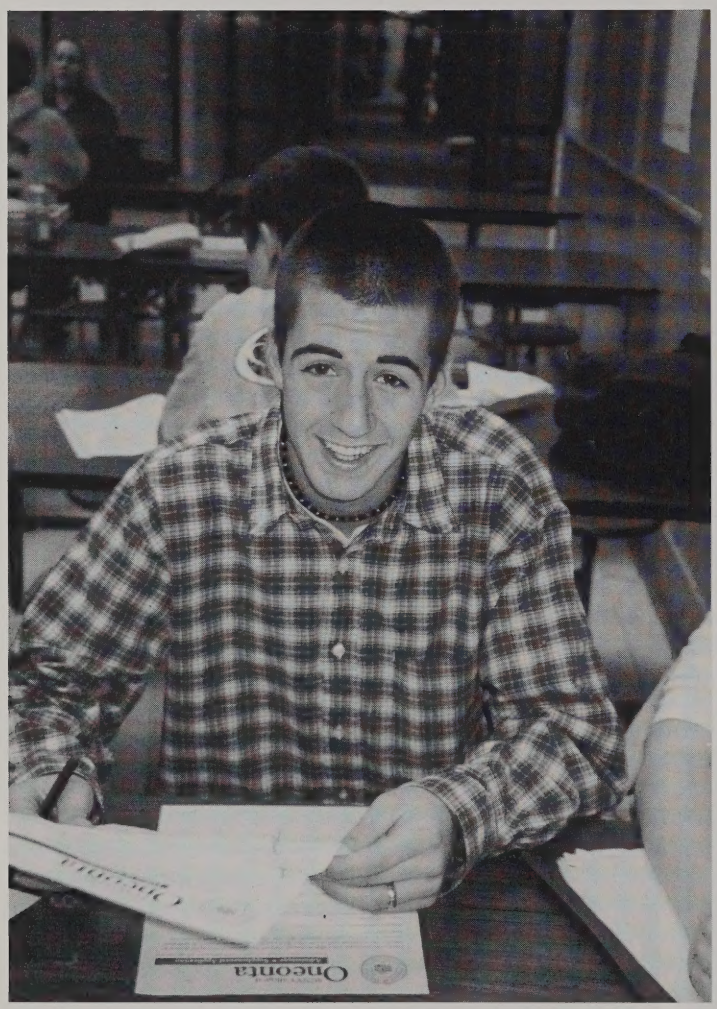
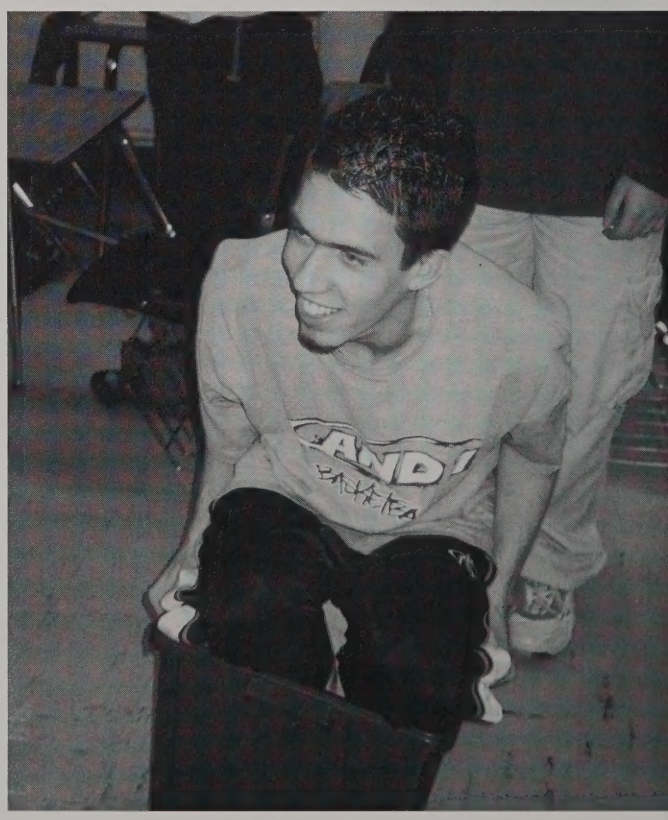
QUIKSILVER

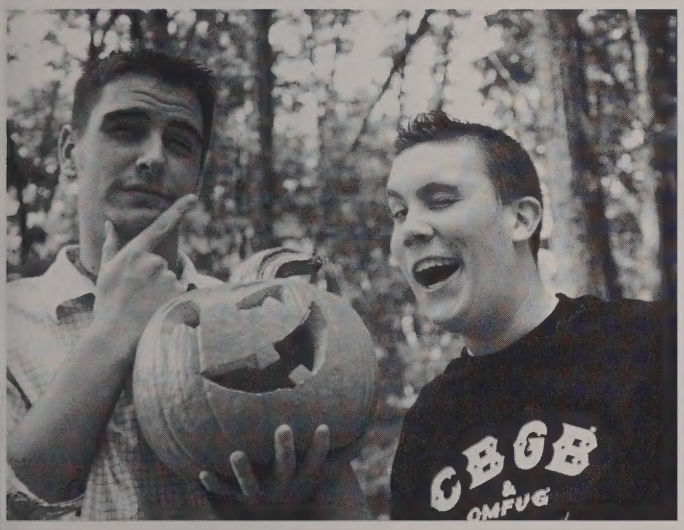


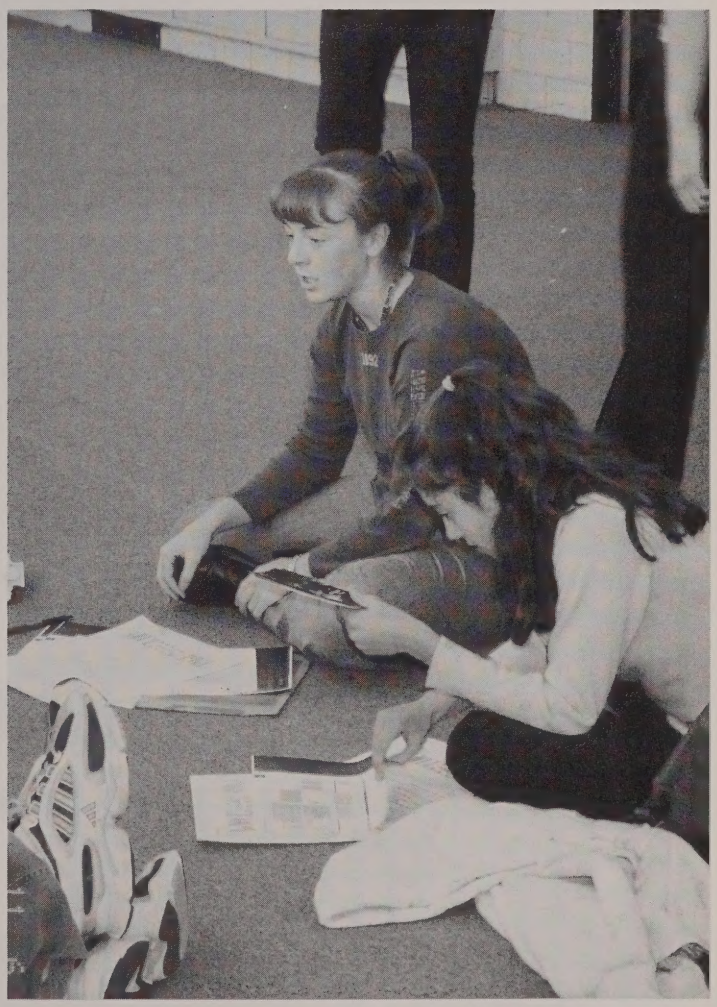


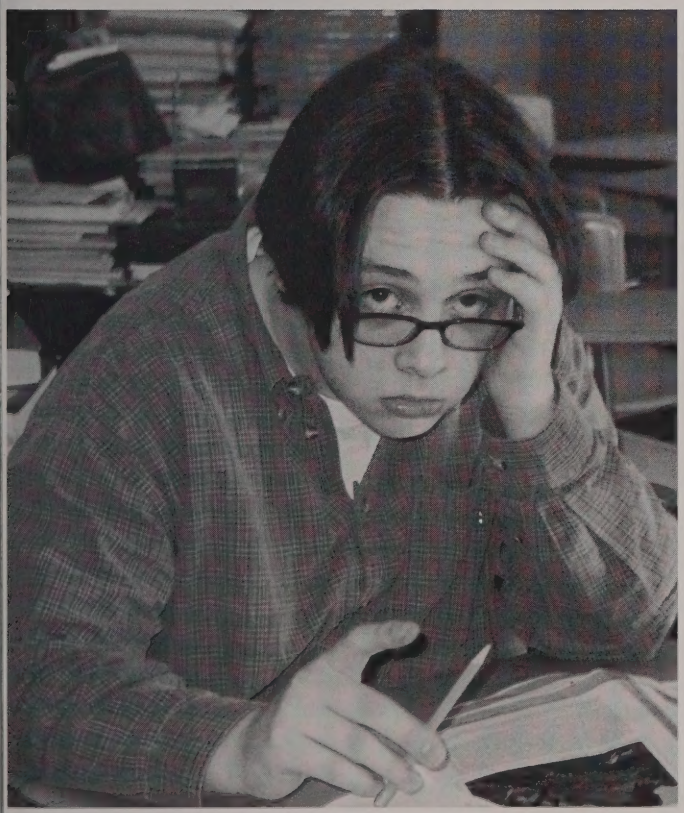
Oncenta



Candids • Candids • Candids •Candids • Candids



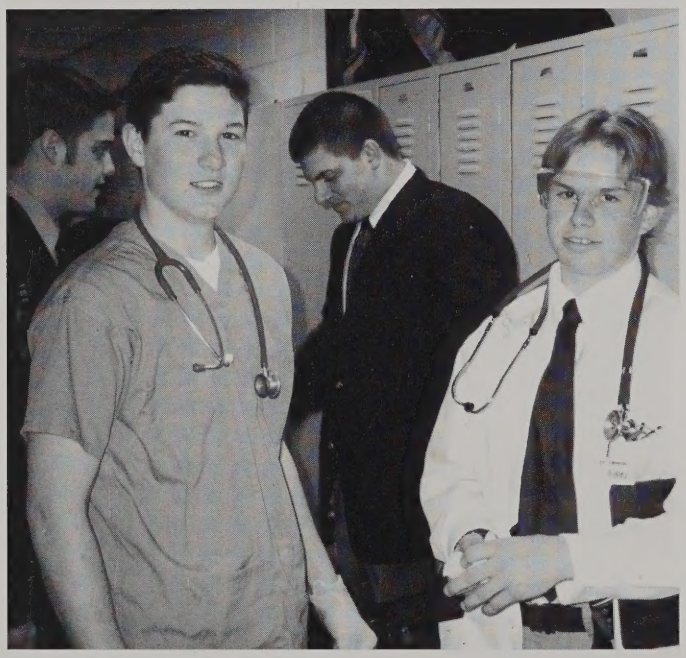




It's Beetlejuice! Lisa Azzilino poses with fellow comic charcters in the then-freshmen's Comic Alley.

Look at those smiles! Jen Jones and Brittany Graham happily work on their hallways with their grade.

Dr. Brian Mizzoni and Dr. Jeff Fidler consult about their long days of hard work at the hospital.



STUDENT QUOTES!

"The sophomore class got together, and we created a prize winning hall."

Esther Kim,Grade 11

"Spirit Week was fun. The freshmen should've won though."

Stephanie Oder, Grade 10

"Our theme was good because different people in our grade could work on different parts of Boston."

Taylor Wheaton,Grade 12

"I loved the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle skit! It was great!"

Jen Jones,Grade 11

Businesswomen Teresa Soracco, Kerry VanMolle, and Kim VanMolle relax amid the chaos of Boston.

Spirit Week

Meghan Scully brainstorms what else to paint on the wall near Batman. Great comics, Meghan!

Andrea Faherty, Laura Garcia, and Alex Vanegas, delicately cut the entrance to the sophomores' castle. What an enchanted hall!

Ben Pierce, Steve Gehly, and Phil Haines keep the beat. Great job, Blue Man Group!

The sophomores gather in their magical hallway of dragons and shops. They creatively represented medieval times.

Ian Belanger, Mike Rooney, Chris Wenz, Mike Pelland, and Ben Swartz joke around during a rehearsal break. Cracking jokes and messing around is common with these cast members.

Mike Pelland attempts to woo Emma Bruns into falling in love with him. These two are veterans of the stage and you can tell!

Play 2001

April 27, 28, and 29

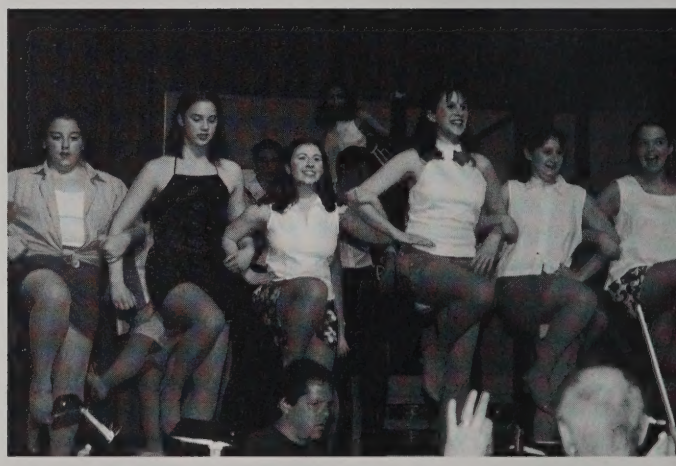
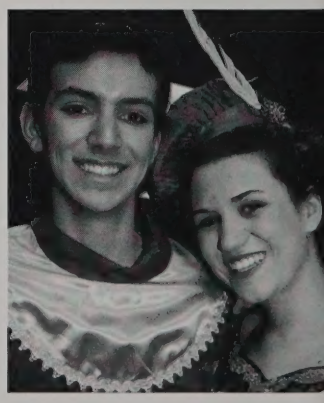
J.D. Killoran, Horace Vandegelder, cowers back as Emma Bruns fumes.

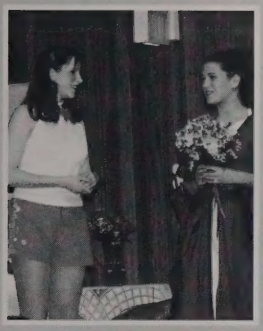


The chorus members strut their stuff through the opening number, "Another Op'nin, Another Show." Look at that fancy footwork!



Mike Pelland (Petruchio) and Emma Bruns (Kate) pose for a picture. These two had displayed their superb acting skills onstage.

Kiss Me Kate



Actors and actresses from the play take a moment for a quick picture after the last performance. What a relief!

The cast of Kiss Me Kate takes some time from a dress rehearsal to take a couple of pictures. This was one of the few rehearsals they had with the band present.

Andy Thibeault takes a minute to smile for the camera. He kept the audience in stitches all through the performance.

"Women are so simple..." Emma Bruns beautifully sings one of the many songs of Kiss Me Kate.

Adrienne Haduch and Abby Legenza perform "We Sing of Love." This song was one of the many favorites from the show.

Mrs. Coburn, aka "Babs", is attempting to copy Walker's new trend with the bandana.

Mrs. Holt, Ericka Nelson, Andrea Faherty, Krystal Jean, and Andrea Graham pose in Rome for the "short people picture."

TRAVELLERS UP CLOSE!

On a relaxed afternoon cruise on the gondolas Krista Dolak, Claire Gill, and Adrienne Haduch soak in the warmth of the sun.

Andrea Graham and Krystal Jean grab a seat on a stone wall to rest their feet.

The eleven day trip was a great opportunity for 10th grader, Bethany Taylor, and 12th grader, Andrea Faherty to mold a stong bond.

These girls sure deserve a seat. Krista Dolak, and Claire Gill just climbed hundreds of stairs in the Roman Arena.

"I am the weakest link," Steve Gehley says with a slight chuckle for the British humour. He was imitating the much-loved British tour guide as a player on the British game show.

European Travellers

What a gorgeous day! Adrienne, Claire, and Krista attempt to enjoy the immaculate structures at the Coliseum even though they are on a tight schedule and being rushed along.

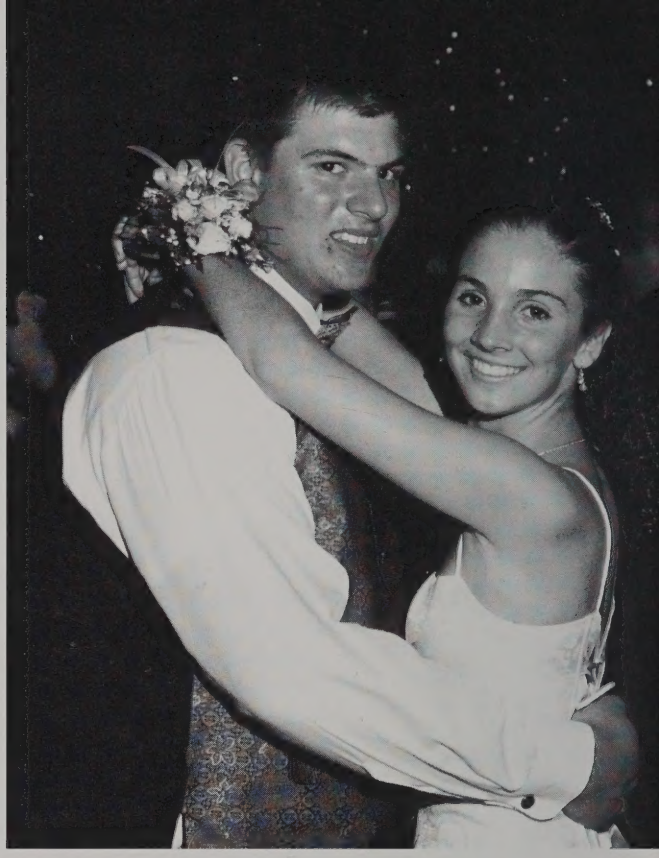
On one of their many bus trips Adrian, the energetic tour guide, belts out Italian songs to get the students into the spirit.

A nice afternoon drink to rehydrate the busy girls. Kristine Benere, Andrea Graham, and Krystal Jean taste a delight of Italy.

The tour in the Venice was a favorite among the students. Here, Chris Warren and Jen Worden sit back and gaze.

Yum! Kerry VanMolle, Stacie Kanniard, and Kate Dumont choose from the variety of foods from the Italian buffet. The big hit was the Tiramasu for dessert.

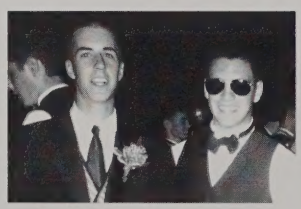
Matt Kinnunen and Shannon McCarthy pose for a picture while dancing. The D.J. played great music.



Prom 2001

Crowne Plaza, Natick

Steve O'Clair and Ben Pierce get down as Amanda Krawiec dances energetically and Brian Mizzoni pauses to reflect on what, we don't know.



Looking great! Prom Court for 2001 was Casey Fairweather, Kim VanMolle, Jason Cunningham, Teresa Soracco, Melvin Santiago, and Kylie Magee. King and Queen were Chris Wenz and Shannon Scully.

Dressed to the nines, Abby Legenza and Stacie Kanniard flash their pearly whites for the camera. Kate Dumont gives a cute little smirk.

Moonlit Magic • May 11

Scott Haines and Mark Ross are surrounded by stunning women. Formal group pictures were a great way to capture the evening's memories.

The Prom Committee stops dancing to take a picture and show off their pretty dresses. The girls worked many hours after school deciding on the details of the prom. Nice work!

Josh Poor shows off his moves for his date. The DJ kept the music lively throughout the night.

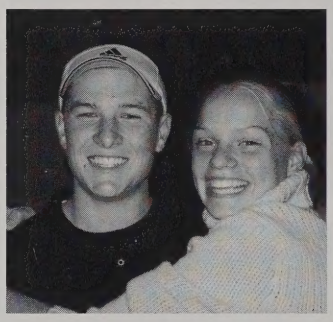
At the dance, Brian Mizzoni and Cheryl Crory take a perfect picture. The dance is held in the decorated cafeteria each year.



The juniors show a lot of spirit at the pep rally. The plan is to outdo the seniors in the traditional victory cheer.

CLASS FLOATS

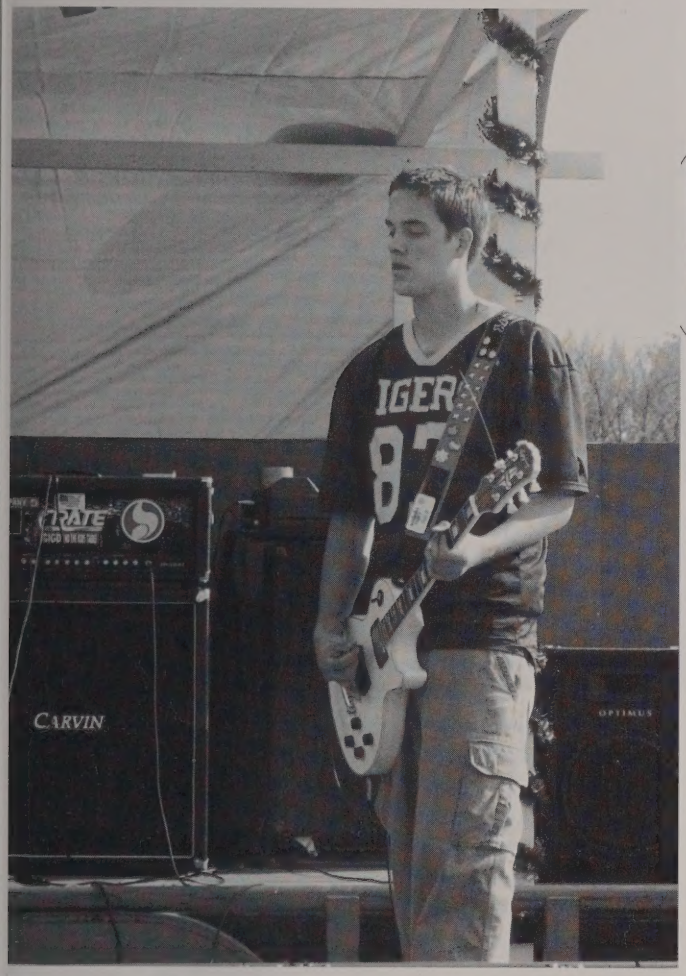
Tina Chen, Michelle Serio, and Ms. Price help to assemble the freshman float before the parade.

Andy Thibeault and Joe Graham fight to the end in the ring on the sophmore float.

Members of the junior class chat on their float of sparkly blue and white balloons.

Seniors show their spirit with a great score board and also pride in their country with the American flag.

Phil Haines plays with his group, Simon Hapgood, at the Homecoming carnival. The carnival is held the Sunday before the game.



Homecoming

Kylie Magee on the senior float, arranging pumpkins. She must be trying to make their float look perfect for the parade.

Abby Legenza finishes getting the senior float ready for the parade. She's trying to help the seniors win the float competition. They were first in the high school division.

Getting soaked, our new superintendent Dr. Livingston is in the dunk tank at the carnival. He's getting used to school customs of dunking teachers and coaches.

King and queen, Brian Mizzoni and Teresa Soracco, travel with the court, Elisha Adey, Jim Colombo,Nicole Puopolo,Shane Melone, Jenn French, Louis West, Chris Pickering,and missing, Amanda Krawiec.

Christine Giaquinto and Monet Meunier show off their glitter tattoos. They're excited for the big night!

December 21, 2002

The chaos of the Cotillion made the night a blast. This was definitely one of the popular dances.

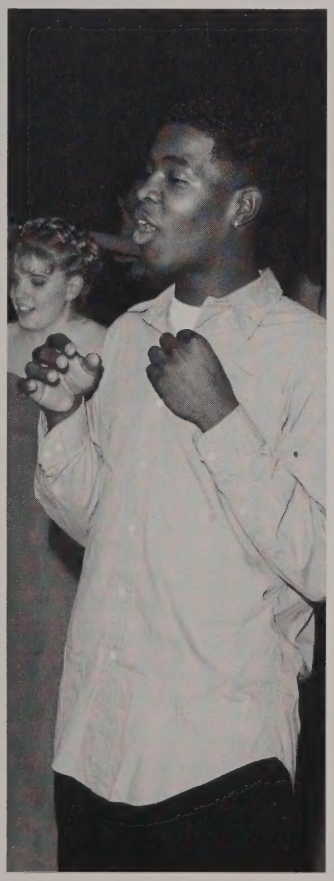
Michelle Serio, Andrea Knowles, Kristen Rooney, and Kristin Olofson have lots of fun, posing with big smiles. They now look forward to the next three years.

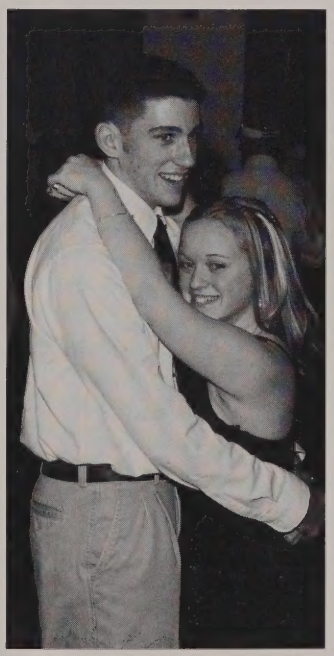
Shawn Dutcher and Melissa Whalen look to see what's going on while sitting at the beautifully decorated tables put together by Lindsey DiTullio. Lindsey put a lot of work into making the tables and cafeteria look nice for the night.

Cotillion

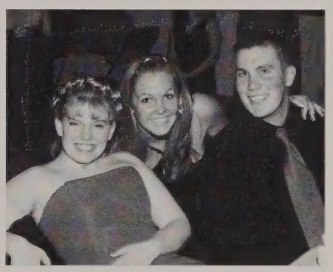
Rachel Tuttle, Danielle Hunt, and Nicole Puopolo are dressed up and having a blast. Don't they look nice!

Shannon Scully, Victoria Brooks, Amanda Krawiec, Stephanie Cardoos, and Taylor Wheaton pose at the entrance of the Cotillion. Kristin Schmidt, a former LHS member, is a guest at the dance.





Ramone Torres watches others dance and cheers them on. People had lots of fun with the great music.



Jen Jones, Kaitlyn Callaluca, and Andy Thibeault stop to rest and pose for a picture. Having some tables was nice this year because people could sit and socialize.

Shane Melone and Kim Hardy take a break from fast dancing and slow it down. How cute!

And this is where all the magic happens!

This my good friends is a stove; a really big stove! Besides being a stove, it is also the axle on which the entire Chefs Club turns. Pretty amazing that a single stove can do all that, isn't it?

Am I gonna be in the yearbook?
Ciaran O'Dwyer made it into the yearbook with this amazing picture of himself holding a snowboard and boots. Nice job, Ciaran!

Hi, my name is Pete.
Pete Harvey, who does not snowboard, takes a second for a picture next to Kate Axtman. A funny coincidence that Pete could make it on this page without even being in Snowboard Club.

Strutting his stuff!
Phil Haines, part of the snowboarding expertise club, strikes a pose with his snowboard before heading off to the mountain.

A WINNER'S CREED

If you think you are beaten, you are; if you dare not, you don't. If you'd like to win, but think you can't, it's almost a cinch you won't.

If you think you'll lose, you're lost.
for out in the world, we find success begins with a person's faith; it's all in the state of mind.

Life's battles don't always go to the stronger or the faster hand;
they go to the one who trusts in God and always thinks

"I Can."

Leaving With Gratitude...

We would like to thank:

Mrs. Chaple and Ms. Rich (for putting up with our sarcasm), The Business Staff, The Photographers, The Literary Staff, the members who went above and beyond expectations to pull this book together (you know who you are), Mr. Desaulniers, Mr. Buckey, the secretaries, Kylie Magee (for thanking us), Mrs. Chaple's E Mod Class, Mr. Neister, Fitz, the parents of the seniors, seniors who gave us pictures to use, seniors who ran home to get us things we didn't have the week before a deadline, seniors who handed in forms on time, the advertisers, the teachers whose classes we constantly interrupted or left, students who gave quotes, and el mono.

We couldn't have done it without you!
